Hi Stephanie. I think that this looks great. I have been going back through my notes and information we have on file to further research the 50 railcars per day right now. It seems like Joe informed us how many barrels one car holds but I can't find that information. I googled it and google is telling me that one railcar will transport 700 barrels of oil. So if you divide 30k by 700 you approximately 43. So maybe that number is closer to 43 than 50. With that I changed the numbers for 50 and 150 to 43 and 143.

Howard, Stephanie J shared a file with you

Hey Kyle, I took a stab at writing a briefing for the Wildcat facility. Will you please review and add, correct, or subtract as you see fit? Thanks.
