Leon and Rem,

I received this media inquiry this morning. I'll do some fact gathering then check-in with the reporter to see if she wants interviews, etc.

Sincerely,

Good evening,

I am inquiring about a story I am working on for Monday.

Have you received any complaints from residents in Wilhoit regarding cattle being allowed to roam freely, causing problems?

It is my understanding the Southern Yavapai Fire District has also received 911 calls regarding cattle in the road, and disrupting a septic line.

I have been told the cattle belong to a rancher in the area, but that they are allowed to roam on federal land. Any information you can provide regarding this is helpful. Thank you!

Leon,

I spoke with James and he has not heard anything about these issues in the Skull Valley area. Through some research and speaking with the reporter, I directed her to contact AZDOT regarding possible downed fences in the area blocking cattle from roadway, and also directed her to the Arizona State Land Department website where it speaks to Arizona Open Range laws and statutes, which covers fencing requirements and vehicle collisions with livestock that have the right of way. She will be contacting those entities to fill out the information for her story.

Sincerely,
