The chart is attached.

I did not take your time on the call to get into details, but for your overall awareness:

There are actually 2 E.O.s involved here, E.O. 13792, which is the overall Monument review and I believe Doug provided you a copy of, and E.O. 13795, issued the next day and which included a section directing Commerce to review the Marine Monuments, which are also covered by the previous EO. We are working closely with NOAA on that review, their lead.

In addition, there was a provision in the charge to the Secretary of Interior to review monuments that may not have had adequate public involvement in their establishment even if they do not meet the acreage criteria, and the Governor of Maine made such a claim for the Katahdin Woods and Waters monument in Maine. We are accordingly reviewing that one to see if there was adequate public involvement.

We issued a press release and Federal Register notice requesting public comments, and are accepting them either electronically through Regulations.gov or by mail to DOI. As of earlier this morning we have a little over 140,000 comments on regs.gov site and have received close to 20,000 mail comments.

The Secretary also wrote to all Members of Congress and Governors with monuments under review in their State or District asking for their views.
